Class Poem

The sun goes down on what has been
 My home for many years.
I feel the pangs of dear things lost,
 And pangs of newborn fears.
Yet time is prompt in healing wounds,
 Thus, is it so surprising
That, as I turn my head, I see
 Another sun just rising?

Class History

Seniors. The class of 1951-that's us. Although the pull has been long and hard, we finally made it. Now that everything is almost over and we are graduating and leaving CHHS, let's look back on what has happened.

Remember the new building and how lost we were as freshmen? After a few weeks of wandering about like straying souls, we finally settled down and began to get acquainted with our surroundings. The Student Council was led by Neal Creighton and the assemblies in the elementary school auditorium were thrilling even though we had to sit on the side rows. Ralph Bland was our class president, and we joined in to help on the paper drives. We saw the reopening of the Recreation Center and the re-establishment of the snack shack. We remember Coach Cecil Longest and "Up, Up, and Over," and Mr. Bill Flowers and general science.

Remember how as sophomores we began to have more self-confidence, so we entered into the swing of things with a bang, starting off the year by sponsoring a Sadie Hawkins Dance in order to raise money for our Junior-Senior. Pat Webb was our class president and he led us through a year in which we helped with the first Freshman-Sophomore, the first Stunt Night, the enlargement of the Proconian, and the revival of the Scroll. Members of our class were stand-outs in athletics, and all three of CHHS's major teams reached the state playoffs. We had a new coach, Mr. Bill Grice, whom everyone adored.

Remember how we worked all through our junior year to raise money for the Junior-Senior? R.B. Fitch was our president and he carried us through many turbulent class meetings. By selling magazines and flowers and by general penny-pinching, we collected enough money to give the seniors one of the best Junior-Seniors in school history. The theme was "Over the Rainbow" and the Bull City Night Hawks played for us. During this year we witnessed the formation of a band, led by Mr. Hubert Henderson, and the set-up of a new athletic field.

Most of our memories come from 1950-51, our final year in high school. Remember the mad scramble on Thursdays to see who would get the front row seats in assembly? The construction of the new building continued throughout the year, and we envied the underclassmen who would have a new school. We worked on the annual, on the Proconian, on anything else we found time for, and we still outshone the underclassmen in the matter of grades. Franklin Giles was class president and R.B. Fitch headed the Student Council, that worked all year to introduce an honor system. We cheered our athletic teams on, and we were proud of our classmates who were playing their last year for CHHS. We were finishing school at a crucial time, and all of us realized it because so many of our friends and classmates had joined the service.

These four years at CHHS have been a short period in our lives that we'll never forget. Good luck to all senior classes yet to be, and to our friends, our teachers, and our school-good-bye.

Eleanor Saunders, Historian

Senior Prophecy

Here we are, squaws and braves, assembled on the old stomping ground of the CHHS Wildcats for the first reunion in ten years of the Heap Big Senior Class of 1951. Many members of the tribe have journeyed into the wilderness and strayed far from the reservation, but nevertheless, everyone is here and accounted for.

Mr. Franklin Giles and his wife, the former Miss Janet Merritt, now own and manage a chain of night clubs throughout the country. Janet's tap dancing act, which she presents once a week, is accompanied by Mr. Richard Vaughan and his clarinet. Richard has won national fame through his rendition of "Moonshine."

Mr. Ralph Blackwood has made his fortune selling hair tonic and cure-all on the corner of Hillywood and Pine.

Mrs. Peggy Clark is a famous model for the Hungover company in New York. She and her husband Bobby rent an apartment on Fifth Avenue.

Mr. Henry Edwards is now the chief illustrator for the magazine for old men, "Sirrah."

Miss Opal Wright is employed as an expert soda jerk at a fashionable joint on Broadway. She made her millions inventing a "sooper pooper" sundae.

The former Stanford twins, Jean and Jane, and their respective husbands, Eddie and Hamp, are operating a bus which runs weekly to South Carolina for the benefit of enterprising young couples.

Mr. Lee West, who resides with his wife Betsy in Las Vegas, has gained a widely reknown reputation as a commencement speaker. He sings at the Metropolitan and teaches dancing at the Murray studios in his free time.

Mr. Matthew Bolanis, known as the "Personality Kid", appears on his own TV show every Thursday night at 9:30, assisted capably by Miss Frances Owen, who is rapidly gaining fame with her impersonation of Judy Canova.

Miss Miriam Lewis, the talented piano player, will make her debut at the Philharmonic next spring.

Mr. Ronald Shearin is the manager and trainer for the new champion heavy-weight, Shmoe Palooka. His wife, the former Miss Barbara Cline, amazingly finds time to be in the center of society and still do an excellent job of raising their twelve children.

Mr. Cecil Duncan is the agriculture instructor at the University of Southern California. At the time he is working on a special experiment, concerning the growth of pink popcorn, for the government.

Mr. John DuBose has taken over John D. Rockefeller's title as the Bull of Wall Street. His wife, the former Miss Lucia Johnson, has just completed her second autobiography, which is now ready for press.

Mr. Noel Sullivan is the owner of the famous six-ring circus, Snatchem and Sackem Sisters, Inc. Due to the illness of his chief clown last month, Noel substituted for him and put on a top performance.

Miss Ann Woodard, top-flight actress, received this year's Oscar for her performance in the movie "Never Say Don't." Although she uses her maiden name in public life, she is in private life Mrs. Tom Maultsby.

Mr. Don Vance was just recently elected to compete on this year's Olympic swimming team.

Mr. Paul Williams was presented with a medal last week for a clean record of no accidents while driving a hearse.

Miss Jane Lanning is making her fifth trip to Reno this month. It seems that she just can't get along with any of her husbands.

Miss Bonnie Baker was crowned Miss Washington State of 1961 several months ago, and she is now preparing to go to Atlantic City for the Miss America contest.

Mr. Tommy Gardner has taken over the job of Secretary of the Treasury in the President's cabinet. The former treasurer was killed recently by an unknown assassin.

Mrs. P.H. Quinlan, the former Miss Carol Hunt, has gained a reputation equal to that of Hattie Carnegie in the dress designing business. Her latest creations from Paris are due any time now.

Mr. Joel Hackney has just been appointed head mattress-tester for the "Sleep Ten Winks" Bed Company.

Miss Mildred Wright announced recently the opening of her new beauty salons, located in New York and Paris.

Miss Margaret Whitt has just returned from Florida where she has been redecorating numerous summer houses.

The ideals of Student Government really became prevalent this year. Under the leadership of the president, R. B. Fitch, with the co-operation of the faculty and student body, the Council was able to begin work on setting up an honor system in our school. We also set up hall monitors, a safety patrol, a lost and found department, conducted the election of head cheerleader, promoted the Point System, and for financial needs, sponsored Stunt Night and sold pictures. Three delegates represented Chapel Hill at the Annual North Carolina Student Council Congress.

The 1951 issue of Hilllife goes to every reader with the hope that turning through its pages in years to come will bring back all the happy memories of our last year in Chapel Hill. This is a pictorial record of our final year, and a fervent plea to all future CHHS'ers not to forget us too soon.

For the first time in several years the Proconian started the year with the same editor as selected the spring before. After two hectic weeks of selling ads the staff put out the first issue on October 6. It was not until after Christmas, though, that any semblance of order was maintained. Five o'clock deadlines were impossible things to meet. When one was finally met Mr. Pugh nearly collapsed from shock.

The last week of January marked the twentieth anniversary of the paper. First mimeographed in 1931 under the editorship of Herman Fussler, now head librarian at the University of Chicago Library, the paper progressed to a weekly printed form in 1942 at half its present size. In 1947 the Proconian evolved to its present size.
